Enlightened Solutions is bursting with pride to share the incredible news:
"Living for We" has been awarded the prestigious "People's Voice" at The Webby Awards!

From the very beginning, Enlightened Solutions has been committed to creating meaningful change and amplifying voices that deserve to be heard.

Project Noir, our flagship research initiative focused on the lived experiences of Black Women in Northeast Ohio, is a true testament to that mission. To see a portion recognized on a global stage is nothing short of awe-inspiring!

This achievement is not ours alone - it belongs to the courageous Black Women of Cleveland and Northeast Ohio who shared their stories with raw vulnerability and unwavering determination. All who tweeted, emailed, texted, and shared "Living for We", spreading its message far and wide.

Lastly, we express our deepest gratitude to the incredible team who led "Living for We." Marlene Harris Taylor's intrepid leadership as host and executive producer guided us through every revelation. HeyFranHey, whose creative brilliance and production brought a fresh perspective to our project. Hannah Leach, our lead producer, whose key technical skills and overall warmth made every guest feel at home. And Dr. Angela Neal Barnett, whose care and grace enriched every mental health conversation.

We are filled with hope and determination to continue our work, lifting up the voices of Black Women in Cleveland and beyond.

Yours Sincerely,

Chinenye Wkemere and Bethany Studenic
